

Celebrating Women In Our Worship

KELC celebrated Women's Sunday on the 5th of March. Women throughout our congregations, together with women throughout the world, led worship with a focus on fairness for women. KELC congregations followed a liturgy prepared by the World Day of Prayer (WDP) committee.

This year the WDP liturgy was written by women in the Philippines. Through the stories and concerns of Filipino women, people could see that many issues concerning women are universal. Many women struggle to ensure their children are able to attend school, women struggle to find employment opportunities, and women struggle to have fair relationships within their home and community.

Women are always important contributors to KELC worship, but on Women's Sunday the difficulties and blessings of women are brought to the forefront of our church communities. Through singing, dancing, skits, preaching, and fellowship, our members were able to learn and meditate together on the concerns of women's positions in our church and society.

We thank God for this special Sunday where our members were shown new ideas and different perspectives. Together, we lift up all the joys and hardships of women in Kenya and around the world. We continue to pray for God's guidance and support as we strive for a world filled with equality and fairness for all people, including for women and girls.
